A Noun Substantive in us of the Second Declension, is thus declined :

Singulariter	{	Nom. hic dominus.	{	Pluraliter	Nom. hi domini.
		Gen. hujus domini.			Gen. horum dominorum.
		Dat. huic domino.			Dat. his dominis.
		Acc. hunc dominum.			Accus. hos dominos.
		Vocat. ô domine.			Voc. ô domini.
		Ab. ab hoc domino.			Abl. his dominis.

A Noun Substantive of the Third Declension, Neuter Gender, is thus declined :

Singulariter	{	Nom. hoc scelus.	{	Pluraliter	Nom. hæc scelera.
		Gen. hujus sceleris.			Gen. horum scelerum.
		Dat. huic sceleri.			Dat. his sceleribus.
		Accus. hoc scelus.			Acc. hæc scelera.
		Voc. ô scelus.			Voc. ô scelera.
		Abl. hoc scelere.			Abl. his sceleribus.

Note, Almost all Adjectives, declined like Tristis, make i only in the Ablative Case singular.

A Paradigm of the Comparative Adjective.

A Noun Adjective of the Comparative Degree is thus declined, after the third Declension :

Singulariter	Nom. hic & hæc major & hoc majus.	Pluraliter	Nom. hi & hæ majores & hæc majora.
	Gen. hujus majoris.		Gen. horum harum & horum majorum.
	Dat. huic majori.		Dat. his majoribus.
	Ac. hunc & hanc majorem & hoc majus.		Ac. hos & has majores & hæc majora.
	Voc. ô major & ô majus.		Voc. ô majores & ô majora.
	Ab. ab hoc hac & hoc majore vel majori.		Abl. ab. his majoribus.

Here is to be noted, that all Adjectives of the Comparative Degree (except plus and its Compound complures) end, in the Neuter Gender Plural Number in a, not, ia : and in the Genitive Plural, in um, not, ium.
